WARRISOTON, July 7.-In the Senate to-day be House till to pay session employees was passed with an amendment appropriating $20,000 to enable the Secretary of War, in his secretion, to course to be transported to their loses the remains of officers and soldiers who dest military camps or are killed in battle. The bill allowing a religious edifice to be sected at West Point Military Academy gave the to some discussion, the bill being defended by Senators, Sewell (Rep., N. J.) and Hawley (gep. Conn.), and being resisted to some exset by Senator Gallinger (Rep., N. H.), who that if the bill was for the benefit of one estain denomination (the Roman Catholie), the committee should be frank about it. The bill was finally passed, its title being "Authorizing the Secretary of War to exercise discretion in grain cases." It authorizes him to permit the and denomination or sect, at its own expense, on the West Point grounds.

The bill giving the rank of Major-General to the present Adjutant-General of the army (Corbin was taken up, and Mr. Pettus (Dem., Ala.) protested against it as a case of political favorism and as a wrong to army officers. He declared that it was pure and unadulterated favorism and nothing else.

Mr. Bacon (Dem., Ga.) reminded Mr. Pettus that the Adjutant-General of the Confederate Army was the officer of the highest rank in that Army was the officer of the highest rank in that Army was the officer of the highest rank in that Army was the officer of the highest rank in that Army was the officer of the highest rank in that Army was the officer of the highest rank in that Army was the officer of the highest rank in that Army was any favoritism in the case. Gen. Orbin, he said, had carned all his grades, from Lieutenant up, and had never had a promotion out of order. The fact that Gen. Mr. Morgan Dem., Ala.) objected to the form of the bill, and suggested that the proper form would be a provision that the Adjutant-General of the army should have the rank of Major-General, leaving the President to make that promotion. As it was, it was favoritism and promotion by Congress instead of by the President.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Adjournment Resolution Adopted—Bills and Resolutions Passed.

Washington, July 7.—Speaker Reed was still Sheat to-day, and Representative Payne pre-Edd over the House as Speaker protein. The salleries were filled, as if it were the first insead of the last days of a session, the attendanta being largely delegates and visitors to the National Educational Association, which begins its annual secutions here to-day. At 12:10 the Hawaiian annexation resolutions were reported from the Senate, and the anat was received with applause. Mr. Daizell Rep., Pa.l, from the Committee 66 Ways and Means, reported the concurrent

Mr. Berry (Dem., Ky.) took the floor pending consideration of a private pension bill to say a few things commendatory of the gallant and heroid conduct of Commodore Schley in destroying the Spanish squadron under the command of Admiral Cervera. [Applause.] He said he thought this a proper time, too, to congratulate the House and the country on the passage of the resolution in the Senate yesteriay, by which the Hawaiian Islands were added to the territory of the United States.

A bill was passed appropriating $10.000 to chable the Secretary of the Interior to employ the necessary circuit force to carry out the provisions of the Curtis bill providing a form of Government for the people of Indian Territory. Senate amendments were concurred in to the following House bills:

To make the chief signal officer on the staff of a corps commander a Lieutenant-Colonel.

Making appropriations for the payment of session employers. The Senate added $200,000 to pay for the transportation home of bodies of volunteers who die in forcign lands.

The Senate bill extending the thanks of Congress and giving medals to Lieut Frank H. Newcomb of the revenue cutter Hudson and the men under him for their gallant and heroic rescue of the torpedo boat Winslow at Cardenas, Cuba, May 11, and giving a medal to Capt. D. B. Hodgson of the cutter McCulloch for heroic conduct at the battle of Manila, May 1, and authorizing his retirement at full pay, was laid before the House and unanimous consent asked for its consideration. Mr. Berry objected.

Mr. Hull (Rep., Ia.) submitted a bill providing for the settlement of claims of the several States on account of expenditures made for equipment, transportation and subsistence of troops in filling their quotas of volunteers under the President's proclamations. Some discussion ensured as to the scope of the bill, and it was finally laid aside on the objections of Mr. Newlands of Nevnda, because Mr. Hull would not consent to an amendment providing for the payment of similar claims by the States of Nevnda, Oregon and California, growing out of enlistments in the war of 1861-45.

Under call of committees the bill to incorporate the International American Bank came up to the unfinished business. After some desultory discussion of points of order, an arrangement was made to postpone consideration of the bill until the first Wednesday of the next session.

The Senate bill authorizing the President to appoint five additional cadets at Annapolis for next year was called up by Mr. Hilborn (Rep., Cal.), but after numerous inquiries as to the purpose of the bill objection to its consideration was made by Mr. Handy (Dem., Del.). Mr. Hilborn said that it was the desire of the President to recognize several acts of heroism in the present war by naming relatives of deceased horoes as cadets, among them the son of Capt. Gridley of the Olympia, and a brother of Ensign Bagley of the torpedo boat Winslow. A resolution ordered by Mr. Dalzell (Rep., Pa.) was agreed to, electing Representative Payne of New York Speaker protein. Mr. Dalzell said that there was an accumulation of enrolled bills on the Speaker's table which it was desired to lave signed and sent to the Senate and the President, and, in the absence of the Speaker, the election of a Speaker protein was an essential preliminary.

The Speaker pro tem, announced at 4:50 oclock his signature to various enrolled hills and joint resolutions, including the Hawaiian annexation resolution.

At 5 o'clock the House adjourned, many members vainly endeavoring to secure recognition to ask unanimous consent for consideration of pet measures. Many others, who gained recognition in the course of the day, met fatal objections from some unresponsive member.

Mr. Jenkins of Wisconsin introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing for the succession to the offices of President and Vice-President, the duties to devolve upon the President pro tem, of the Senate, in case of vacancy from any cause.

Mr. Moon of Tennessee introduced a bill making the silver dollar of 412% grains the unit of value in the United States, and making all silver coin a full legal tender for the payment of all debts.

THE ADJOURNMENT QUESTION.

Questions That May Delay the Closing of This Session of Congress.

Washington, July 7.-Whether Congress is o adjourn this week depends somewhat upon the prospects for the ending of the war by a proposal of peace from Spain. The Congress ommittee that will be appointed to wait upon the President to ask him if he has any "further communication to make " may take occasion to earn from him whether peace overtures are being made, and upon his answer may depend the question of adjournment

The House to-day passed a resolution to adjourn sine die at 2 o'clock to-morrow. When this resolution reached the Senate Chairman Hawey of the Military Affairs Committee protested against the adjournment before necessary legislation was disposed of. Many military nominations and measures for carrying on the war were still pending, he said, and could not be disposed of within the short time named by the House. The resolutions were referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and a meeting of that committee has been called for tomorrow morning to consider the situation and said Mr. Allen, "I withdraw my fix a day and an hour for final adjournment.

The calendar of the Senate was well clear

The calendar of the Senate was well cleared to-day of bills to whose passage no objection The calendar of the Senate was well cleared to-day of bills to whose passage no objection was raised, and in the executive session the executive calendar was similarly curtailed and an effort made to dispose of some nominations which are being antagonized by Senators from the States to which the nominees are accredited. One of these was the nomination of former Congressman Ewart to be United States Judge for the Western District of North Carolina, and which Senator Butler has been holding up for nearly four months. When this case was reached to-day Mr. Butler again prevented action on it by delivering another installment of his long speech against confirmation. It was proposed to resume the executive session after the morning business to-morrow, so that Mr. Butler may finish his speech and the case be disposed of.

An effort will be made to pass the bill nuthorizing the enlistment of 25,000 colored troops, which has been recommended by the Secretary of War and is said to be desired by the President. This will meet with great opposition from the Democratic side of the chamber. Mr. Morgan gave notice to-day that he would move to-morrow to take up the Nicaraguan canal bill. This also finds opponents on the Democratic side, for Mr. Turpic served notice to-day that the bill could not be passed at this session. The probability that the war may soon terminate by peace overtures from Spain is also being considered in connection with the adjournment, for some legislation will be necessary to proterly care for territory that may be acquired, and the concurrence of the Senate would be required in a treaty of peace with Spain. These questions can, of course, be post-poned until the Docember seasion, and if the President wishes the co-operation of Congress in their settlement he can so inform them through their committees, which will wait upon him after the two houses agree upon a date for adjournment.

W. F. SHAW AGAIN ARRESTED.

His Specialty Is the Rimming of Gold Coin, for Which He Served a Term in Prison. WASHINGTON, July 7.-The secret service bureau was notified to-day of the arrest in Milwaukee of W. F. Shaw, alias Mason. Shaw was a confederate of James L. Wilcox, alias Williams, who was a well-known crook, whose specialty is the "rimming" of gold pieces Wilcox was arrested in St. Louis on June 20 It was known at the time that he had as his confederates a man and a woman, but before the secret service officials could enpure them they fled. As they had four days start of the detectives, it took the latter some time to locate them. As soon as Wileox was arrested Mason went to their lodgings, packed up the kit of tools, and earried it off with him. The kit was, however, captured with Mason in Milwaukee

Mason will be sent to St. Louis for trial. Wilcox has been engaged in this business for a long time, and has but recently been released from the Maryland penitentiary, where he served four years for a similar offense. In 1894 Wilcox and his wife went to Baltimore, where they flooded the town with lightweight gold coins. So active were they in this enter grise that one day they procured $300 in gold from a bank, and in two hours had rimmed every piece of it, and were on the streets exchanging it for entrency. The secret service officials precured sixteen indictments against them, but owing to a peculiarity of the law at that time, which limited the punishment for this offence, they were sentenced for four years only for the remaining econts. The law at that time did not provide for the presention of persons engaged in passing fightweight comes, even if they were aware of the fact that they had been "immed" or "sweated." Consequently Mrs. Wilcox got off without a term of imprisonment Since then, however, as the result of the Wilcox case, a new letatute was passed providing for the punishment of persons engaged in "rimning" or "sweating" gold coins.

Wilcox was released from the Maryland penicentiary about three months ago and went to St. Louis, where he again engaged in the "riming" of coins. Formerly he used a lathe, but from a bank, and in two hours

Shortly before dark Mrs. Spiro went up on the roof and commenced to hang her linen on the only clothesline that was not in use. A few minutes later Mrs. Kemp appeared on the roof. She claimed sole ownership of the line.

"I'll pull your clothes off," said Mrs. Kemp, "for ju want to put mine on."

"You need to put some clothes on," said Mrs. Spiro, "for you've got only a petticad on now."

The two women were pulling each other's hair, clawing each other, and rolling around the roof, when reinforcements arrived in the person of the Concy Island dancer, Ida Gilbert. Then there were three women relling over the roof. The screams of Mrs. Spiro were heard by persons on the sidewalk, and also by pecule living on the opposite side of the street. A crowd soon gathered. Mrs. Spiro's husband heard that his wife was getting slaughtered, and he hurried up to the roof, only to be driven back by the women. Running down to the street he found Bicycle Policeman Ress.

"Two women are frying to throw my wife into the sireet," he shouted.

The policeman summoned two more bluecosts, and the three went up to the roof. They found Mrs. Spiro unconscious. Mrs. Kemp and Mrs. Spiro was carried down to her flat. Two dectors were summoned. They said the woman might die, as she had been in delicate health before the row began.

CHILD'S PLEA SAVES HER MOTHER. Mrs. Bayliss, Fined for Stealing a Dress,

Released for Her Daughter's Sake. Mrs. Agnes Bayliss, 40 years old, of 227 Bay street, Jersey City, was arraigned in the First Criminal Court yesterday morning charged with stealing a dress from Mrs. Mary Coghill of 307 Railroad avenue, by whom she had been employed. Her nine-year-old daughter watched the proceedings from the rear of the court-room. It was shown that Mrs. Bayliss had taken the dress and pawned it for 30 cents. Police dustice Potts sentenced her to pay a fine of $10 and costs, amounting in all to $15.

Mrs. Bayliss was taken downstairs to the city prison. Half an hour later her daughter stepped up to Justice Potts's desk and said:

"Please, Judge, won't you let my mother go? I have saved all my pennies for three years and I have $7 here. I will give you that."

The child offered her pecketbook to Justice Potts, but he told her to keep it and pay Mrs. Coghili. Mrs. Bayliss was brought into court again and the line remitted. Mother and daughter left the courtroom together. employed. Her nine-year-old daughter watched

CHAPLAIN SEEKS A DUEL.

The Rev. B. H. Carroll, Jr., Wants to Fight Editor Gerald of Brann's Iconoclast.

DALLAS, Tex., July 7 .- A duel is probable between Judge B. Gerald, successor to the late W. C. Brann as editor of Brann's Iconoclast at Waco, and the Rev. B. H. Carroll, Jr., Chaplain (with rank of Captain) of the First Texas United States Volunteer Cavalry, stationed at San An tonio. Tex. In the July number of the Iconoclast Judge Gerald refers in severe language to the old Brann-Baylor University sensations and the tragedles growing out of them, in one of which he lost an arm and killed two men. He mercilessly lampoons all Baptists, and refers, among others, to the Rev. B. H. Carroll. father of the Chaplain. The articles are as bitter as any that Brann printed.

To-day the Chaplain prints a long open letter addressed to Judge Gerald, and dated at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio. His language is as blistering as can be made. He calls Judge Gerald a thug, a murderer, a liar, a sot, a oward, and characterizes him as anything but a brave, honest man. The letter says:

"It is a great sacrifice for me to give up the precepts of my religion and my calling and to risk my career in the army of my country, and to abandon my future happiness and usefulness for the sake of pitting myself against a debauched old wreck like yourself. But I have made the sacrifice.
"You are a cur who barks to all the world but never bites, except when he can get his opponent at a disadvantage. You are a puppy, who will never dare to resent this insult, except with words. Consider that I have pulled your asinine cars and spat in your face. All that prevents my saying this to your face is that the rui ... of the army prevent my leaving San Antonio. You are bound by no such rules."

Chaplain Carroll then gives his stopping place in San Antonio, so that Judge Gerald may find him easily. No one who has heard of the correspondence expects anything else than a tragedy.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

William Hayes Misses the Bullseye Only Twice in 200 Shots.

A feature of the national rifle meet at Glendale Shooting Park yesterday was the individual bowling contest. The ten leading men last night were A. Paulsen, William Holden, J. Scher, B. Ensner, W. Daniel, H. Boeneman, W. Meyer, H. Tietjen, C. Oher, and A. Kaemmen. It will be decided within the next two days who will be crowned king of the sharpshooters. A remarkable record was made yesterlay by William Hayes of Newark, who, out of 200 shots, missed the bullseye only twice. He made a score of 373, beating F. Ross, the present shooting king, who three years ago gained a record of 371. J. S. Dillon of Philadelphia also distinguished himself yesterday. The Diamond Sculls were won by Howell of Cambridge University.

The once historic Henley regatta lost much of its prestige this year through the absence of foreign entries, and should the present exclusive policy be pursued it may dwindle down to the insular affair of purely local importance from which it originally grow. The Grand Challenge Cup, for which Cornell and Yale tried in vain, had a certain amount of interest for Americans this year, inasmuch as the entries included the Leander Club, with which R.C. Lehmann, the volunteer Harvard coach, was so long identified. That the Leanders won again is accepted as an additional proof that Lehmann is theories are right even if their transplanting here has not so far proved effective.

The event, however, in which Americans were most deeply concerned was the rues for the Diamond Sculls. How young Edward Hanlon Ten Eyek won this classic event last year and brought the trophy for the first time to this country is a matter of aquatte history. Ten Eyek's entry was refused this year for reasons that reflected no discredit on the young Worcester amateur. The facts are too well known to the rowing public to call for recapituation, and it suffices to say that he promptly sent back the prize which he was denied the privilege of defending.

For these reasons it will be particularly grating. these reasons it will be particularly grati-For these reasons it will be particularly grati-lying to American oarsmen to learn that the trophy again practically reverts to this country. The winner, B. H. Howell of Cambridge Uni-versity, is an American, and his victory is doubly significant in view of the fact that Ten Eyek easily shut him out in the semi-final round last year, and also defeated H. T. Black-staffe, from whom Howell won yesterday.

The finals in the singles in the Middle States tennts championships were reached yesterday at the courts of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club, at Mountain Station, N. J. M. D. Whitman won a creditable victory ver E. P. Fischer in a three set match, the features of which were Whitman's superb volleying and passof which were whitman superb volleying and passing and Fischer's hard driving. Whitman's steadiness at critical periods resulted in his winning the odd set. The other semi-final match was between S. C. Millett and George Miles. The latter by his form on the preceding day was the favorite, but he played at least half fifteen below the standard he set in the Ware match. Millett won in straight sets.

In the doubles Forbes and Ware were taken by surprise in their match against Clothier and Fort, and the latter team won the first set by the second sky games to one. Thereafter class teld. The youngsters were able to get only one more game while Forbes and Ware were winning the next two sets.

This aftermoon the seoni-final round of the doubles between Forbes and Ware and Fischer and Millett will the played and the winners will meet Whitman and Carleton latter in the aftermoon in the final round of the singles between Whitman and Millett will be played on Saturday aftermoon. Yesterday's secores follow:

OPENING OF THE ANNUAL TOURNA-MENT AT THE NORWOOD CLUB.

Princeton in the Lead-Four of the First Seven in the Qualifying Round from "Old Nassau" - O'Connor Heads the Consolation Set - Thirty Return Cards.

On the greens of the Norwood Park Club at Long Branch yesterday thirty golfers returned cards in the second annual tournament, while a dozen or more fell by the wayside. In spite of its parklike aspect, for the course is laid out in a diverging line that encircles the villas of the Norwood residents, it is a very sporty links, although hedges of box and a few cop bunkers are the most formidable hazards. The best score made, that returned by Kellogg, was eleven strokes better than the best score made during the late open tournament at Scabright, which proves ones again that it is the location rather than the nature of a hazard that makes a golfing obstacle formidable.

Princeton golfers were very prominent in the sixteen that qualified for the Norwood Cup. Kellogg, who won the gold medal for the best score, is a young scion of the university, while Blair, Vanderpool and Murphy, who also fin ished in the first seven, played for "old Nassau" in the intercollegiate team championship. A Norwood player, Henderson, finished second to Kelloge, and the fourth man was Villepigne, the star player of the Memphis Country Club. Who is passing the summer at Seabright. Neither of the cup winners at the last Norwood tournament (W. J. Travis, Norwood Cup, and A. Morten, Seabright Cup) put in an appearance, which caused some comment. The clubhouse throughout the play was thronged with the members, and with matrons and maids on golling thoughts intent, who followed the best-known players on their walks over the links. The summary of the qualifying round follows, the cards of the first sixteen being quoted by strokes: A Norwood player, Henderson, finished second Consolation Cup—First match play round—Davis best C'Connor, 2 up, 1 to play: Ridgeway beat McCall, 6 up, 4 to play; Riker beat McClave, 7 up, 6 to play; Thompson beat Lockwood, 8 up, 7 to play. The play will be continued to-day. Vander-pool is regarded as the strongest candidate now in the race for the Norwood Cup.

Considerable sport was created at the Marine three-quarters of a length. Time, 7 minutes and Field Club yesterday by a competition between the caddle boys for prizes offered by the members. The boys entered into the competi-tion with great ardor, and in style and excen-tion proved that they were well grounded in the principles of golf. The winner in each class was rewarded with two golf and the second with a single golf clab. It was a handlean, bu with a single golf club. It was a handicap, but the seratch man won in each class. That the best score was made by the class B winner is perhaps due to the division having been made on the size of the youths rather than on any idea of their previous performances. Otto Haas, 40, won in class A, with Eddie Martin second, while Arthur Huson, 89, won in class B, with Will Gardner second. The boys played two rounds of the short nine-hole course.

SOUTHAMPTON, July 7 .- At the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club this afternoon Miss N. Henderson and Miss A. Godfrey played off the tie made by them in the handicap match of yesterday. Another Victory for the Vaquero III.

NEWPORT, July 7 .- Only four of the thirtyooters entered the sweepstake race to-day. The Vaquero III., sailed by Owner Duryea, was again the winner. There was a light southerly wind, and a triangular course of eight miles was sailed over twice. The start was from Brenton's sailed over twice. The start was from Brenton's Cove, and the marks at Jamestown and Bishop Rock. At the end of the first resund the Carolina, sailed by Capt. Seaman, was in the lead by nearly a minute. In the beat home on the second round, however, she stood out into a strong tide and the Vaquero III. and Dorothy II. hugging the shore, beat her out. Mrs. Whitney sailed in the Dorothy II., and Miss Brocks in the Wa Wa. Summary follows:
